Information Note

(25 September 2017)

Organized by

The United Nations Committee of Experts on Global Geospatial Information Management (UN-GGIM) in collaboration with the National Institute of Statistics and Geography (INEGI) and Geospatial Media and Communications

Introduction

The United Nations Committee of Experts on Global Geospatial Information Management (UN-GGIM), in collaboration with the Government of Mexico through the National Institute of Statistics and Geography (INEGI), and Geospatial Media and Communications will convene the Fifth High Level Forum on United Nations Global Geospatial Information Management at the Sheraton Maria Isabel Hotel in Mexico City from 28 – 30 November 2017.

The Fifth High Level Forum program will continue the tradition of opening with a Ministerial Segment, in order for high level decision-makers to share and exchange views with delegates on the very important role of geospatial information and technology in national sustainable development initiatives. The Forum will feature technical presentations, group discussions and a series of panel sessions over the following three days that demonstrate the considerable collaboration and liaison among global experts within the geospatial information community, public-private professional bodies, including United Nations organizations, and other internationally acclaimed development organizations, for optimum adoption and utilization of geospatial platforms and services. Featured topics will discuss the critical role of geospatial knowledge and services in a number of sectors and thematic areas of the SDGs. This will assist in understanding the requirements of geospatial information to support accurate monitoring of progress, and in identifying challenges for successful realization of these goals.

This fifth edition of UN-GGIM's High Level Forums will have the substantive support from each of the five Regional Committees of United Nations Global Geospatial Information Management (UN-GGIM: Americas, UN-GGIM: Asia Pacific, UN-GGIM: Africa, UN-GGIM: Arab States and UN-GGIM: Europe), as well as the UN-GGIM Private Sector Network, the UN-GGIM Academic Network and the UN-GGIM Geospatial Societies.

Recognizing the importance of geospatial information in national and global development, Member States are being encouraged to participate in the Fifth High Level Forum. Additional information will continually be available at <http://ggim.un.org/5th%20HLF.html>

Registration

All participants are required to register online via the link of the Fifth High Level Forum on UN-GGIM at the host’s website below. National government delegations are welcome and will be nominated through their appropriate governmental entities. Nominations should be sent to the Secretariat by completing the registration form.

Representatives from international organizations and the private sector active in the field of global geospatial information management are welcomed on verification of their credentials. Interested parties are required to fill their intent of participation form. Completion and submission of the form at the below link indicates your intent to join the UN-GGIM High Level Forum. It is not the final confirmation of attendance. Approved participants will receive a follow-up confirmation email from the UN-GGIM High Level Forum Secretariat. Only the names of duly confirmed participants will be included in the list of participants.

Only those who have received a confirmation email will be included in the list of participants and entitled to attend the Forum. Please have your confirmation email with you at the registration counter to receive your badge at the Forum venue.

For identification reasons, all participants are requested to wear their meeting badges at all times during meetings. The loss of a meeting badge should be communicated to the Registration counter located at the venue so that a new one can be issued immediately.

Currency

The Mexican Peso is the currency of Mexico. The most popular Mexico Peso exchange rate is the USD to MXN. The currency code for Pesos is MXN, and the symbol is $. Traders and sellers are no longer allowed to exchange US dollars for pesos, but they can tell you the location of a nearby exchange house. If you have US dollars, there are some places where you can get Mexican pesos, for example: Money exchange, banks, ATM and credit card (such as Visa, MasterCard, etc.)

The exchange rate is flexible and floating

Mexico

Mexico City is geographically located in the Valley of Mexico. This valley, also known as the Valley of the Damned is a large valley in the high plateaus at the center of Mexico. It has an altitude of 2,240 meters (7,349 feet). Mexico City is situated in central-south Mexico and it is surrounded by the state of Mexico on the west, north and east, and by the state of Morelos on the south. The city covers an area of around 1,485sq km (571 sq mi) with the elevation of 2,240m (7,349 ft).

Geographical Coordinates:
19°25'57.85"N 99°07'59.71"W

Weather

Mexico City falls under a subtropical highland climate, and thus experiences a warm and humid weather, especially in April and May. Tourists prefer to travel to this city in the months of July and August, when the weather is expected to be pleasant and warmer. The rainy season starts from June to October; the day normally starts with bright sunlight and in the afternoons, it becomes cloudy. Winter season can be cool and dry, and it rarely experiences snowfall. It is advised to take warm clothes for the winter season, as morning and night time can be extremely cold.

To check for current weather condition Mexico City, please refer to: <http://www.weather.com/weather/today/MXDF0132>

Safety

Foreign visitors to Mexico City need not be overly concerned with their safety. However, it is necessary to take precautions whilst travelling in crowded areas. It is advisable to keep important things like personal identification, valuable items and money in a safe place.

As most people speak only Spanish, it is a good idea to explore the city with someone who can speak Spanish, especially at night.

Emergency Numbers

Mexico has a single nationwide emergency number, the 911

Touristic Options / General Information

Mexico City is one of the largest metropolitan areas in the world, with 16 boroughs and more than 300 neighbourhoods. It might seem a bit overwhelming to the first-time visitor, though it does not have to be.

Many of the most visited tourist attractions in Mexico City are concentrated downtown, at the Centro Histórico, as Plaza de la Constitución or Zócalo, the National Palace, Metropolitan Cathedral, Templo Mayor, Palace of Fine Arts and the Alameda Park. Located west of the Centro Histórico, the Plaza de la República is home to the newly refurbished Revolution Monument and National Museum.

Chapultepec Park, the largest in Mexico City, is divided into three sections, and is home to some of the capital's top tourist attractions, including Chapultepec Castle, the Modern Art Museum, the National Museum of Anthropology and the Tamayo Contemporary Art Museum. Keep in mind that, with a few exceptions, most museums and archaeological sites in Mexico City are closed on Mondays.

Some other tourist attractions are located in the neighbourhoods of Zona Rosa, Roma, Condesa, Coyoacán and San Ángel, where you can find lovely parks, plazas, shops, markets, coffee shops and some of the top places to visit in Mexico City. These artsy neighbourhoods are especially popular among visitors to the city and foreign residents.

The main campus of Mexico's National Autonomous University (UNAM) is known for its architecture and impressive murals—the work of some of Mexico's top artists, such as Diego Rivera and Juan O'Gorman. There you can also find the University's Contemporary Art Museum (MUAC), within the University Cultural Centre, which hosts a variety of events and performances.

Further south, you can find Xochimilco. The ancient Aztec city of Tenochtitlan, Mexico City, was originally founded in the Valley of Mexico over the ancient Lake of Texcoco. The Aztecs built an intricate network of canals to navigate the city. After the arrival of the Spanish in 1519, most of the Aztec structures and canals were destroyed and replaced with modern roads and buildings. At Xochimilco you can still see and travel through some original canals.

Electricity Supply

In Mexico the standard voltage is 127 V and the frequency is 60 Hz. You can use your electric appliances in Mexico, if the standard voltage in your country is between 110 - 127 V (as is in the US, Canada and most South American countries). Manufacturers take small deviations (plus or minus 5%) into account.

If the standard voltage in your country is in the range of 220 - 240 V (as is in the UK, Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia), you need a voltage converter in Mexico.

The power sockets are of type A and B.

Churches and Temples

Being the richest and most powerful colony of the Spanish Empire, the capital of New Spain, actual Mexico City, was home to various religious orders who built many churches and convents that are colonial sacred art treasures and. Many of them ceased to serve cult purposes after Mexico's Reform Laws were proclaimed in 1859. They have since become museums and libraries for the safeguarding of Mexico's cultural and historical heritage.

In Mexico City, you can find temples of all religions: synagogues, Evangelical and Protestant churches, and Orthodox churches, and practice of Islam there are masjids, and even a House of Tibet for Buddhists.
