Kazan Declaration on APEC Food Security
Addis Ababa Declaration on Geospatial Information Management Towards Good Land Governance for the 2030 Agenda:

“Recalling General Assembly resolution on Agriculture Development and Food Security 67/228 and reaffirmed in its resolutions 68/233 and 70/233 for countries to give due consideration to implementing the Voluntary Guidelines on the Responsible Governance of Tenure of Land, Fisheries and Forests in the Context of National Food Security, as endorsed by the Committee on World Food Security.”
Problems of tenure and weak governance

Tenure rights not recognized

Expensive and difficult procedures

Discrimination

Limited capacity

Bribery

State capture

Forced eviction

Inequitable access

No accountability or transparency

Contradictory laws and policies

INCREASING COMPETITION FOR NATURAL RESOURCES:
  • Population growth
  • Urbanization
  • Changing diets
  • Demand for energy

Governing institutions have not adapted to growing intensity of competition
• Voluntary
• Set out principles and practices
• Contribute to the improvement of & development of the policy, legal & organizational frameworks
• Do not replace laws and treaties
• Do not reduce existing obligations

What are the Guidelines about?
Responsible Governance is about doing the right thing and doing it well.
Weak governance VS Responsible governance

Weak governance
- marginalizes the poor who lose out because they lack the political force to influence decisions, and because they lack the financial resources to bribe corrupt officials
- makes already socially and economically marginalized women more vulnerable
- affects economic growth by discouraging investments
- hinders environmental sustainability by enabling people to profit from overexploiting resources

Responsible governance
- simplifies the administration of tenure and makes it more accessible and effective to all (“leave no one behind”)
- protects people from the loss of their tenure rights, including through forced evictions
- helps ensure no one is subject to discrimination under laws, policies and practices
- leads to more transparent and participatory decision-making
- helps ensure that all people are treated equally when laws are enforced
- helps ensure disputes are resolved before they degenerate into conflict
  - makes access to land, fisheries, Forests and other natural resources more equitable
Tenure

How people get access to natural resources.

Who can use what resources, for how long, and under what conditions.
Public, private, communal, collective, indigenous and customary.

Ownership and other rights to use the land & natural resources.

Part 5: Administration of tenure of the Voluntary Guidelines

- Records of tenure rights.
- Valuation.
- Taxation.
- Regulated spatial planning.
- Resolution of disputes.
- Transboundary matters.
States should ensure that implementing agencies and judicial authorities have the human, physical, financial and other forms of capacity to implement policies and laws in a timely, effective and gender-sensitive manner. Staff at all organizational levels should receive continuous training, and be recruited with due regard to ensuring gender and social equality.

States should provide systems...to record individual and collective tenure rights.

...ensure that appropriate systems are used for the fair and timely valuation of tenure rights for...transactions as a result of investments, expropriation and taxation.
Part 5: Administration of tenure

Section 17. Records of tenure rights

| Ensure that everyone is able to record their tenure rights and obtain information without discrimination. | • Establish service centres or mobile offices
• Use locally-based professionals to deliver information on tenure rights to the public |

Addis Ababa Declaration on Geospatial Information Management Towards Good Land Governance for the 2030 Agenda:

“Acknowledging that the use, ownership or occupation of land, which is a prerequisite for human rights on shelter, food and peace is fundamental for economic development and poverty alleviation, and that the 2030 Agenda cannot be achieved without the introduction of modern land management approaches accompanied by good land governance;

We therefore resolve to,
Addis Ababa Declaration on Geospatial Information Management Towards Good Land Governance for the 2030 Agenda:

We therefore resolve to,

- affirm the importance of good land administration and management as the pillar of good governance and efficient government to address the challenges and opportunities for the 2030 Agenda, specifically within the framework of the Voluntary Guidelines on the Responsible Governance of Tenure of Land, Fisheries and Forests in the Context of National Food Security and supporting the development of fit-for-purpose land administration and geospatial information, particularly in developing countries;”
