Statement:

China welcomes the report of the Working Group on Legal and Policy Frameworks for Geospatial Information Management, noting the positive progress in the activities of the Working Group, especially the white paper which has already been guiding geo-policy work in couple of countries, and acknowledges the need for having a legal and policy framework under a complex background of geoinformation management of open data, new technologies, and national legal environment.

China would encourage the Working Group to consider more specific new technology problems for further improvement and implementation of the White Paper.
