

The Future We Want

Strategic Framework for GISD 2016-2030

International Forum on Geospatial Information and Services for Disasters
Session 4

Bridgetown, Barbados
4-5 September 2016

UN-GGIM

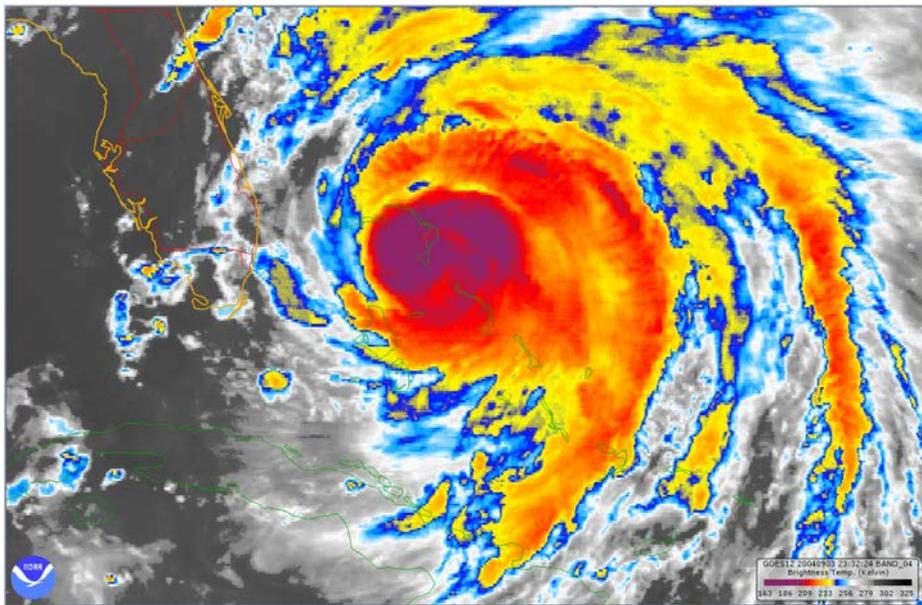

United Nations Initiative on
Global Geospatial Information Management

Positioning geospatial information to address global challenges

ggim.un.org

The Future We Want

It is the year 2025. A tropical depression has formed in the Atlantic and it is forecast to develop into a Category 5 Hurricane over the next 36-48 hours. Hurricane Alva. Hurricane Alva is projected to make land fall on a small continental island in the Eastern Caribbean, but will also impact several others within the Lesser Antilles.

Where are they today?

What are they doing?

How are they operating?

What are they doing differently from what they did in 2016?

UN-GGIM

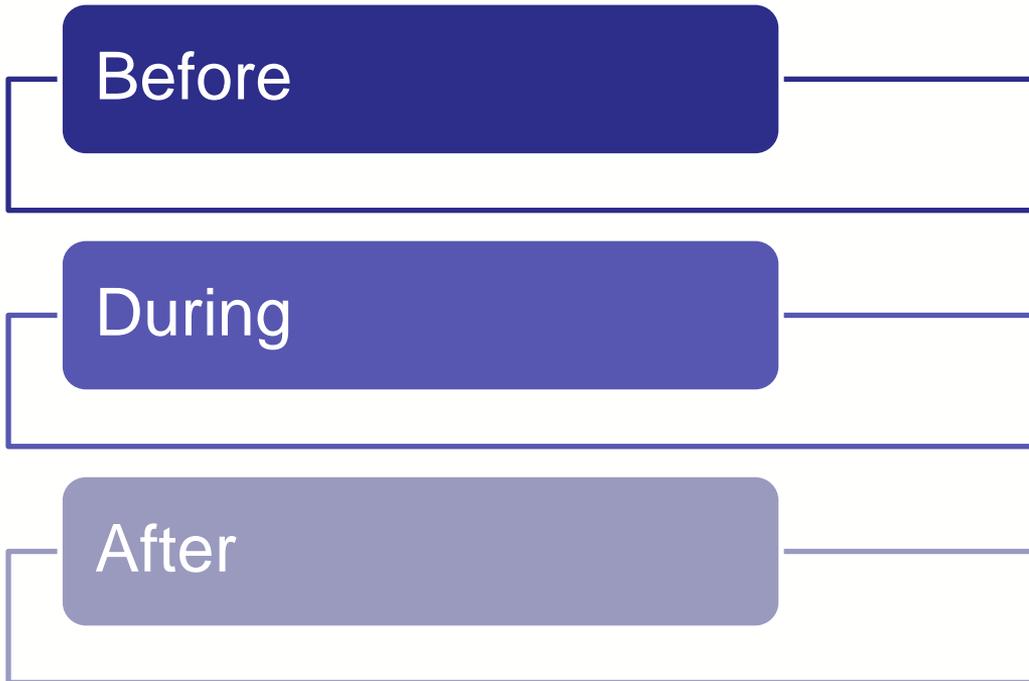

United Nations Initiative on
Global Geospatial Information Management

Positioning geospatial information to address global challenges

ggim.un.org

The Future We Want

Adoption of SFGISD Strengthens the Stages:

*Flow of Geo-Information
Throughout Each Stage*

Strategic Framework on GISD

UN-GGIM

United Nations Initiative on
Global Geospatial Information Management

Positioning geospatial information to address global challenges

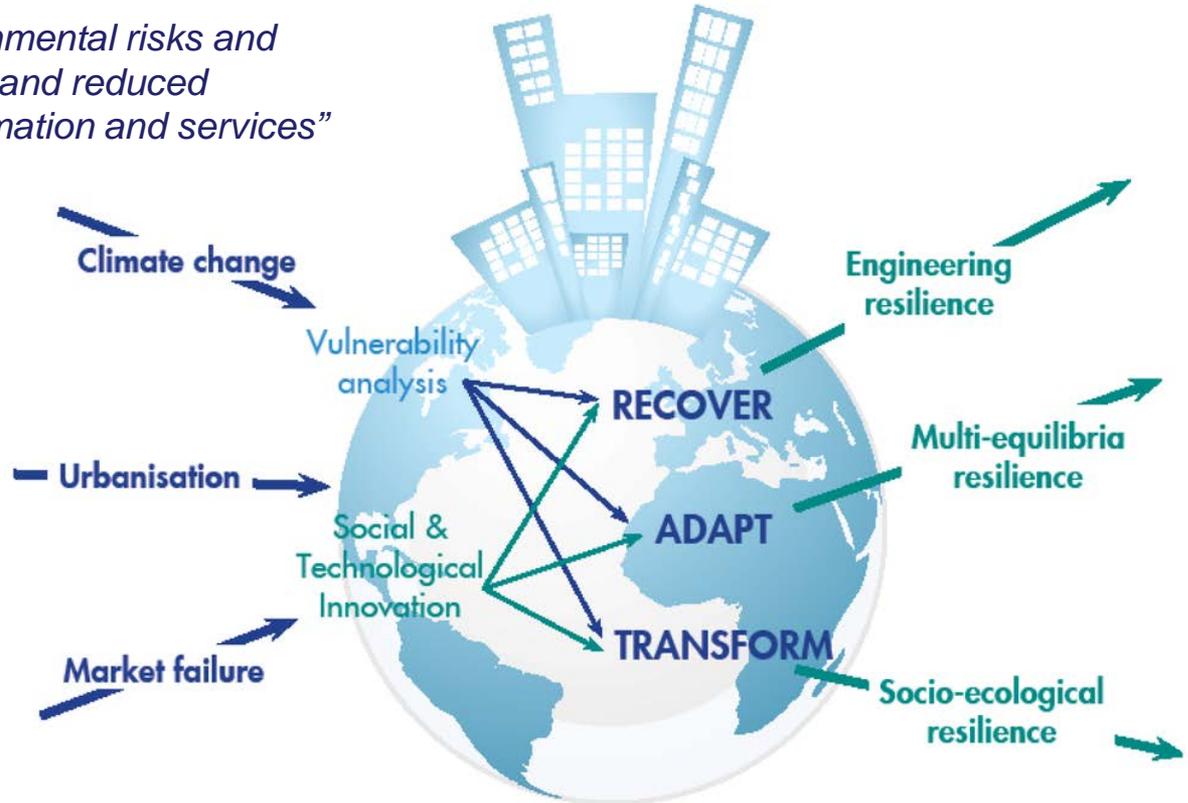

ggim.un.org

The Future We Want

Expected Outcomes - Strategic Framework on GISD

“The human, economic and environmental risks and impacts of disasters are prevented and reduced through the use of geospatial information and services”

Key Element : Geospatial Information

Resilient Society

Turok 2013

UN-GGIM

United Nations Initiative on
Global Geospatial Information Management

Positioning geospatial information to address global challenges

ggim.un.org