

Thirteenth session, UNHQ New York, 31 July to 4 August 2023

Side Event “Effective Land Administration”

Monday, 31 July, 2023

13:15pm-14:30pm

Conference Room 3 (Conference bldg.)
United Nations Headquarters, New York

CONCEPT NOTE

Background

Side event on “Effective Land Administration” includes international experts to share their experiences and views in implementing effective land administration at national or sub-national level. From the understanding at the various national circumstances shared by the member states, functional groups, and international organizations, we hope we can work together to effectively administer and manage land in different countries and jurisdictions based on the best practices and good strategies that are already carried out in other countries. We believe a strong partnership is the key to achieve this.

Objectives and expected outcomes

1. To strengthen partnership and collaboration including with international and regional organizations
2. To promote and raise awareness of the merits and benefits of effective land administration;
3. To gain better understanding and improve knowledge through cooperative projects and joint activities, avoiding duplication
