PERIODICAL NEWSLETTER OF KADASTER INTERNATIONAL, SEPTEMBER 2014

Estimations show that about 30% of the people-land relationships worldwide are not documented. This, with population growth and the pressure on land and natural resources increases. Often, the poor suffer most. This results in many, less conflicts and competing claims on land. A appropriate administration of land is the start for conflict resolution and sustainable land use planning anywhere in the world. But, as money and time are limited, we need to act carefully!
